

Epilogue

“Let not the wise man boast of his wisdom or the strong man boast of his strength or the rich man boast of his riches, but let him who boasts boast about this: that he understands and knows me, that I am the LORD, who exercises kindness, justice and righteousness on earth, for in these I delight,” declares the LORD.” Jeremiah 9:23-24

Okay . . . you have spent time thinking about God’s commitments to you.

Are you smarter?

Are you stronger?

Are you richer?

Me neither!

But being smarter, stronger or richer is not what matters to God. He doesn’t “delight” in these things. Don’t bother including them on any resume you show Him.

Well then, what have you gained by thinking about God’s commitments?

Has your thinking about God changed at all?

Do you understand Him more?

Do you know Him any better?

These things do matter to God. Not because He is vain. God doesn’t suffer from a lack of self-esteem! He is delighted when we come to know Him better because this knowledge benefits us. It heals us inside.

Thinking about God heals our heart.

Why not make thinking about God part of your daily routine? You won’t increase your IQ or your time in the mile run. You won’t become a millionaire. But you will become a more authentic and a more confident person. Thinking about God’s commitments has that impact.

Go back to the beginning of the book and start over. You will see things in the next reading that you didn’t see before. You will remember things that you liked thinking about . . .

. . . and little by little, bit by bit, thought by thought, you will be transformed.
